

Privacy Policy

Last Updated: 1/15/2025

At 64 Robots, we value your privacy and are committed to protecting any information we may collect from users of our services. This Privacy Policy explains how we handle and protect any information we gather.

1. Information We Do Not Collect

64 Robots does not collect, store, or process personal data such as names, email addresses, or payment details. We do not use cookies, tracking technologies, or other methods to gather personal information.

2. Data Security

Although we do not collect or store personal information, we adhere to strict security practices to ensure the integrity and confidentiality of any data we handle. Our commitment to data security is in line with SOC 2 compliance standards, which help safeguard against unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, and destruction of any information.

3. Third-Party Services

We do not share your information with third parties, as we do not collect personal data. However, we may use third-party services for specific functionality (e.g., cloud hosting, payment processing) that may collect personal information on our behalf. Please refer to the privacy policies of these third parties for more information on how they handle personal data.

4. Data Retention

Since we do not collect or store personal data, there are no data retention practices in place for user data. Any data that we may process on behalf of our clients will be handled according to the client's instructions and subject to any applicable agreements.

5. Your Rights

As we do not store personal information, there are no rights to access, correct, or delete personal data applicable to the information 64 Robots may or may not store. If you have any concerns about data processed on behalf of clients, please contact the relevant client directly.

6. Changes to this Privacy Policy

64 Robots may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. Any changes will be posted on our website, and the revised Privacy Policy will take effect immediately upon posting. Please review this policy periodically to stay informed about our privacy practices.
